

The Sensory Gym® and Camp Jabiru
Proudly Present
The Camp Jabiru Symposium:
Perspectives on Sensory Modulation and Regulation:
What we know from the science and how this informs our treatment approach

April 6-7, 2019
Windsor, NSW

The Jabiru Symposium, a new offering from the Camp Jabiru Team.

Camp Jabiru offers a unique gathering of occupational therapists dedicated to 'a deep dive' of understanding how to best support children who struggle with a variety of needs, with the commonality that occupational therapy offers a perspective and approach that can fundamentally shift the trajectory of these children.

Camp Jabiru is also unique in how it brings together master clinicians to work together with experienced therapists, new therapists and students into a shared experience wherein mentoring, learning, growing by doing is happening in a supportive community of professional growth.

Capitalizing on the gathering of master clinicians, the Jabiru Symposium offers a think-tank format wherein core concepts of theory and practice are shared across the range of perspectives represented. This format offers insight for clinical practice and inspiration to fuel professional engagement.

The First Jabiru Symposium will grapple with the concepts of Sensory Modulation and offer perspectives on this continually evolving area of practice that is the window into 'regulation' - a foundation for development and therefore a key concept for treatment in paediatric occupational therapy.

Key speakers at the Jabiru Symposium include:

- Tracy Stackhouse MA, OTR
- Shelly Lane, PhD, OTR
- Sheila Frick, OTR
- Beth Osten, MS, OTR
- Caroline Hui, MS, OT
- Colleen Hacker, MS, OTR and
- Lynette Burke, OTR

Course Objectives:

Participants will:

- Deepen their understanding of the Ayres approach to sensory modulation
- Be able to describe the neurological underpinnings of sensory modulation and the impact sensation has on regulatory functions across the nervous system
- Gain familiarity in discussing the impact of sensory modulation through cases and panel discussion
- Acquire insight into best practice interventions for sensory modulation
- Understand the importance of relationship-mediation of regulatory functions

PROPOSED SCHEDULE – PLEASE BEAR IN MIND THAT THIS IS A WORK IN PROGRESS!

Saturday April 6th

8:00 to 8:30	Registration
8:30	Ayres Approach (ASI®) - What Did and Would Ayres Say; Laying the Foundation: Shelly J. Lane, PhD, OTR
9:30	Neuroscience, What Does It Say? Basic Modulation in the Nervous System and the Functions That Support Modulation Shelly Lane, PhD, OTR
10:45	Break
11:00	Neuroscience, What Does It Say? The Neural Networks of Sensory Modulation and Regulation - The Deep Regulatory Core of the Brain Tracy Murnan Stackhouse, MA, OTR
12:30	Lunch
1:30	Developmental Neuroscience, What Does it Say? Lessons and Evidence from the Primary Developmental Disorders Tracy Murnan Stackhouse, MA, OTR
3:00	Break
3:15	Panel Discussion with Guided Questions from the Audience. Tracy Stackhouse, Guide with Symposium Speakers as Panelists: Lynette Burke, Sheila Frick, Colleen Hacker, Caroline Hui, Shelly Lane, Beth Osten
5:00	End of Day One

Sunday, April 7th

8:30	Sensory Modulation for the Purpose of.....What? Clinical Reasoning for Intervention Planning Shelly J. Lane and Tracy Murnan Stackhouse
9:30	Approaches to Treatment: Ayres - Foundations for Treatment & Emerging Treatment Approaches Caroline Hui, MS, OT
10:45	Break
11:00	Nuanced Special Treatment Considerations The Relationship and Postural Sensory-Motor Functions Sheila Frick, OTR
12:30	Lunch
1:30	Nuanced Special Treatment Considerations Regulation within Relationships Beth Osten, MS, OTR
3:00	Break
3:15	“Fireside Chat” Model of Sharing Perspectives Via a Case Review with Symposium Speakers as Panelists: Lynette Burke, Sheila Frick, Colleen Hacker, Caroline Hui, Shelly Lane, Beth Osten, Tracy Stackhouse
5:00	End of Day Two
